

CREDIT MARKET STRUCTURE ALLIANCE

TUESDAY, APRIL 21ST – NYC (583 PARK AVE)

What is the Credit Market Structure Alliance?

A conference that is specifically designed to elevate the dialogue on credit market structure

Why is this important?

- Credit markets could be considered the most important part of the global financial system
- Credit markets are larger than ever before in modern history
- Proper modernization of credit markets is critical to a well-functioning economy

CMSA Purpose

While credit markets are not broken, there is material room for improvement

The purpose of this event is to gather thought leaders and industry experts to debate new ideas and issues, so that we can develop a cohesive vision of the future

If successful, the CMSA will help drive market innovation that serves all market participants

How does the CMSA Elevate the Dialogue on Market Innovation?

Topics that are relevant and speakers that are well-informed leaders

Audience participation is encouraged and facilitated for each session

No media, no recordings, Chatham House Rule

Sessions are dedicated to discussing topics not pitches for products

This format democratizes the discussion, which creates unique, enlightening content

Brian Daly
Director, SEC Division of Investment Management

Jamie Selway
Director, SEC Division of Trading and Markets

CMSA Featured Panel

This session is a timely dialogue on the evolving SEC priorities for regulating and improving fixed income markets.

With FIMSAC suspended nearly a decade ago, this panel is a rare opportunity to connect senior members of financial institutions and SEC leadership on critical issues shaping fixed income market structure, liquidity and participation.
